

Aging and Disability Resource Center (ADRC): Program Insights and Services Briefing

Executive Summary

The Aging and Disability Resource Center (ADRC) serves as a critical information and access hub for senior citizens and individuals with disabilities within the Northern Kentucky Area Development District (NKADD). Established as an initiative of the Older Americans Act, the ADRC provides a cost-free "single point of entry" for residents seeking local resources, public funded aging services, and Medicare assistance. The program functions as a bridge between the community and essential support systems, offering screening for specific Medicaid waivers and facilitating connections to specialized care ranging from home-delivered meals to caregiver support.

Program Overview and Regional Scope

The ADRC is a centralized department within the NKADD designed to simplify the process of finding and accessing specialized services. It operates under a mandate to provide information without charging fees to the service recipients.

Geographic Service Area

The ADRC provides coverage for eight specific counties in Northern Kentucky:

- Boone – CAIC County
- Campbell - CAIC County
- Carroll
- Gallatin
- Grant
- Kenton - CAIC County
- Owen
- Pendleton

Core Services and Functional Responsibilities

The ADRC fulfills several primary roles to support mature adults and individuals with disabilities. These functions include information dissemination, direct assistance, and intake for state and federal programs.

Information and Referral

- Local Resource Guidance: Providing comprehensive data on local resources and support services tailored to the needs of the aging and disabled populations.
- Service Location Assistance: Directly aiding individuals in identifying and locating the most appropriate community resources for their specific situations.

Program Entry and Screening

- Centralized Intake: Acting as the single point of entry for various public funded aging services. This includes coordinating access to:
 - Home-delivered meals
 - Homemaking services
 - Personal care
 - Caregiver programs
- Medicaid Waiver Screening: Conducting screenings for the Consumer Based Option component of the Medicaid Home and Community Based Waiver (HCBW) Program.

Insurance and Benefits Support

- Medicare Assistance: Providing guidance and assistance regarding Medicare-related concerns and issues.

Broader Organizational Context

The ADRC is part of the larger NKADD infrastructure, which provides an extensive array of services across multiple sectors. While the ADRC focuses on the initial point of contact and specific resource navigation, the broader organization supports the following areas:

Category	Specific Services and Programs
Aging & Disability	Adult Daycare, Case Management, Elder Abuse prevention, Kentucky Family Caregiver Program, Long Term Care Ombudsman, Participant Directed Services (PDS), and Senior Centers.
Housing & Food	USDA Food Program and Nutrition services.

Employment	Career services at the Kentucky Career Center, Employment Connections, and Youth First initiatives.
Local Government	GIS/Demographics, Hazard Mitigation, Public Administration, Tax Rate Calculation, and Transportation planning.
Business Services	Brownfield Redevelopment, COVID-19 Relief Loans, and Small Business Lending.

External Resources and Contact Channels

To facilitate ongoing support, the ADRC identifies specific resources for families and professionals:

- Older Adult Resource Guide: A specialized guide containing listings and explanations of providers and services catering to mature adults in Northern Kentucky.
- Eldercare Locator: A national service that helps families find community services throughout the United States (available Monday through Friday, 9:00 am to 8:00 pm EST).

Contact Information

The program maintains multiple lines of communication for public inquiries:

- Direct ADRC Phone: 859.692.2480 or 866.766.2372
- Email: adrc@nkadd.org
- Physical Address: 22 Spiral Drive, Florence, KY 41042